

Commies May Invade Tibet

Claim Puppet Rule Already Trained

London, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The signs grew more ominous today for Tibet, the cloud-wrapped land in central Asia ruled by the boy Dalai Lama whose astrologers have warned him against foreigners.

Reports from Bhutan state, on the main route from India to the "lost horizon" country, said a communist puppet government for Tibet has been formed in the neighboring Chinese province of Tsinghai.

Tibet was the site of the mythical city of Shangri-La in James Hilton's novel, "Lost Horizon."

The Bhutan reports said four divisions of Tibetans are being trained for the service of the puppet government. A treaty with the regime provides that Chinese communists, upon "liberation of Tibet," will administer its foreign affairs and be given sole rights for mining its minerals, believed to include uranium, the dispatch said.

Reds Renew Threats
At the same time a report of the official Chinese communist news agency broadcast from Peking renewed threats to invade Tibet. The broadcast said the war on China's mainland fundamentally was at an end "with the exception of Tibet, which has yet to be liberated."

The Chinese communists have made previous threats against Tibet, whose 24,000-foot mountain peaks and 12,000-foot high valleys make it the highest country in the world.

Last September Peking broadcast first disclosed purpose to "liberate" Tibet. Last Sunday Moscow's biggest newspapers, Izvestia and Pravda, repeated the threats.

The primitive nation of about 3,000,000 Buddhist monks and peasants is chiefly important because it borders on India, the disputed state of Kashmir and the huge Chinese province of Sinkiang.

Last One Out In 1948
It is a country without roads or automobiles, electricity or industry. Two years ago the first Tibetan mission to leave the country since 1923 visited the United States seeking to sell wool and yak-tail hairs for wigs and Santa Claus whisks.

Most conquerors have left the country alone. Its 16,000-foot mountain passes make it a tough nut to crack. Even the mongol conqueror, Kublai Khan, was able to carve out only the eastern part for his empire.

But in their penetration, the communists apparently are relying on a religious-political rival of the 15-year-old Chinese-born Dalai Lama, the present ruler.

The rival is the exiled 13-year-old Panchen Lama. Until recently the Panchen Lama was a leader without a flock in the Lamaseri at Kumbun, Tsinghai province in northwestern China.

PMW Officers Hold Meeting On Miner Having Gas Heat

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—(P)—Progressive Mine Union officers held a meeting today on the case of the Collinsville miner who is out of work because he is installing gas heat in his home.

After the conference, Illinois PMW President John Marchand said he is holding up a statement until Monday.

The miner, Charles Walchekauskas, 56, was taken off his job last Monday at the Lumaghi Coal company shaft in Collinsville.

His local union has a by-law providing for a two year suspension of a member who doesn't use coal or wood heat. Walchekauskas said he decided on gas heat to allow more comfort for an adopted 20 year old son stricken by rheumatic fever six years ago.

At the conference with Marchand and George Balma, PMW vice president; Dino Fratiglione, head of Collinsville Local No. 3; his brother, Oscar, and Arthur Mincke, mine committeemen.

5 Brothers Save 6th As Ditch Caves In

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(P)—Five brothers dug a sixth brother out of a 12-foot trench today after the sides of the ditch caved in and covered him with five feet of dirt.

The buried man, Donald Buss, 30, escaped with a broken leg.

Drunken Gunman Kills 2, Wounds 2 In Cafe 'Party'

Mendon, Mass., Jan. 11.—(P)—A drunken gunman held a two and one-half hour nightmare party at pistol-point while he robbed a roadside cafe today, then shot to death an investigating police chief, a girl patron, and wounded two others.

The dying police chief, Matthew Mantoni, 39, who had drawn his revolver too late, fired from the floor to fell Harold Ward, 32-year-old discharged cab driver. But meanwhile Ward—with patrons and employees lined up like targets in a shooting gallery—had slain Miss Katherine Brady, 22, and wounded two of her companions.

Police Officer Clarence Grant, who had entered the Red Rooster cafe with Mantoni, hurried himself on Ward as he crawled toward the door, and clubbed the gunman into submission.

Wounded, but not critically, were Miss Brady's escort, Lawrence Griffin, 24, and Miss Josephine Pitasi, also 24. They had been lined up along the bar in tense terror with other patrons and employees while the inebriated Ward ordered, "there's going to be a party and everybody drinks."

Ward, who lived with his parents in a log cabin a few hundred yards from the cafe, had been classified as a poor student when he left school at the end of the seventh grade. His mother said he served in the army airforce and was honorably discharged after a nervous breakdown. He was a mental patient at Northampton Veterans hospital for a month in 1942.

Dentist, Patient Save Man Dangling From 10th Floor

Kansas City, Jan. 11.—(P)—A dentist and his patient reached out of a window today and rescued a workman dangling from a rope 10 floors above ground.

Dr. John C. Wright, who has an office on the 10th floor of a building in downtown Kansas City, was working on the teeth of Homer Pennington when they heard a crash. A scream followed.

The 65-year-old dentist and Pennington—the latter's mouth filled with cotton—rushed to the window. They saw William Clayton, 24-year-old transfer company employee hanging to a rope by one hand, about two feet below the window level. Dr. Wright and Pennington quickly reached out and hauled Clayton to safety.

Clayton was a member of a transfer crew which was hoisting a four-ton crate to the top of the 17-story building. A large truck, equipped with a winch, was being used in the work.

Clayton had been stationed atop the crate to keep it from bumping against the wall of the building.

"I was just above the 10th floor level when I felt the crate sort of start to slip from under me," the shaken Clayton said. "Then it just disappeared."

The crate plunged to the ground, missing by only a few feet the truck on which four other men were working.

"When the crate went out from under me I just grabbed for that rope instinctively," Clayton said.

Dr. Wright said the man was trembling all over when he was pulled to safety.

"In fact," Dr. Wright said, "he was so scared—we all were—that I gave him a glass of wine to calm him down."

Italian Coalition Regime Decides To Resign Today

Rome, Jan. 11.—(P)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi's coalition government decided tonight to resign tomorrow, clearing the way for a reorganization he has planned since last October.

The decision came, by coincidence, after a day in which communists demonstrated by the thousands against Italian police for the slaying of six foundry workers in a riot at Modena Monday. Communist spokesmen threatened a new anti-government campaign. These demonstrations did not precipitate the cabinet crisis.

De Gasperi, 68-year-old Christian Democratic chieftain, is to submit his own resignation and that of his ministers tomorrow morning to President Luigi Einaudi, who presumably will then ask him to form a new government.

The premier's party has an absolute majority in the Chamber of Deputies and control of the Senate. He has run the country lately with a coalition of Christian Democrats, Liberals (conservatives), middle-of-the-road Republicans and Independents. Though the Communist party

Taft Blasts U. S. Foreign Policies

Says State Dept. Defies Program Asked By Solons

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today launched a scathing attack on the administration's handling of foreign affairs, particularly in China where he said a "left-wing" group in the state department has defied the general policy Congress laid down.

The Senate Republican policy leader flatly accused President Truman of following an inconsistent course in extending armed aid to Europe to balk Communist expansion, while refusing similar assistance to anti-Communist forces in China.

Taft made these charges in a 1,400 word speech to the senate where foreign policy has been the No. 1 topic since Mr. Truman announced last week that this country will not provide arms to help Chiang Kai-Shek's forces defend the island of Formosa against the Chinese Communists.

Acheson In Closed Meet
The Ohioan took the senate floor as Secretary of State Acheson was giving members of the House Foreign Affairs committee a general review of United States foreign policy in a closed door session. Acheson's report was a repeat of his testimony yesterday before the Senate Foreign Relations committee. This was to the effect that the state department in sticking to its position that the United States can best combat Communism in the orient through an economic aid program for those lands still outside the Red orbit.

Taft, however, insisted that this country should take a direct stand now against a further Red advance in the Far East by sending arms help to Formosa.

Would Not Cause War
He asserted such action would not provide any cause for war between the U.S. and Russia or the Chinese Reds themselves. As a matter of fact he said, this country has taken far greater war risks in its efforts to "contain" communism in Europe and the Middle East.

Formosa Is a Place where a small amount of aid, and at very small cost, can prevent the further spread of Communism. Taft said.

He went on to add that he is not advocating American occupation of the island or of sending the army or navy there. He pointed out that the navy already is operating between it and the mainland, adding: "There can be no crossing if our navy makes it clear that ships carrying troops will not be allowed to cross. In fact, probably there would be no such attempt at all if the state department made it perfectly clear that we do not intend to permit Communist occupation of Formosa."

Standard Oil And Union Announce Wage Agreement

Whiting, Ind., Jan. 11.—(P)—An Independent Petroleum Union and the Whiting Refinery of Standard Oil company (Indiana) today announced agreement in a wage dispute. Negotiations had been deadlocked since Dec. 28.

Details of the agreement were not made public. They will be submitted to members of the Central States Petroleum Union Local 100 at its regular monthly meeting Jan. 17.

About 8,100 Whiting workers are affected. The union's three year contract expired last year. There has been no work stoppage.

The agreement was announced by Peter Dheer, Alonzo Young and Joseph McKenna of the union's negotiating committee and by J. C. Ducommun, refinery manager.

They had been negotiating before conciliator Blake C. Smith of the federal mediation and conciliation service, Chicago.

Warns There May Be 'Maniac Driver' Loose In Chicago

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(P)—A deputy coroner said today there may be "a maniac driver" loose in Chicago's streets.

The observation was made by Jack Przybylski at an inquest into the death of a pedestrian, George Valentine, 62, who was fatally injured Dec. 17 by an automobile. The car was driven without stopping.

One witness, Andrew J. Gartner, a real estate broker, said the car "deliberately swerved to the curb" where Valentine and his wife, Anna, 60, were standing.

Mrs. Valentine told how the car, in which there were two men, bore down on her and her husband "at a very high speed."

"How I escaped, I'll never know," she said.

The inquest verdict was manslaughter, and the coroner's jury urged unusual police efforts to find the driver and bring him to trial.

The extraction plant, which takes oil from the beans, will continue in operation.

Lewis Tells Struck Miners To Resume 3-Day Work Week

Washington, Jan. 11.—(P)—John L. Lewis today gave nearly 70,000 striking coal miners a signal to resume work Monday—but he kept the industry on a three-day work week.

This was the second straight week in which groups of Lewis' United Mine Workers stayed completely idle, so industry leaders wondered out loud whether other regional strikes are coming next week.

John D. Battle, executive vice president of the National Coal Association, summed up operator feeling with this comment:

"Lewis has set a pattern of sporadic strikes and there is no guarantee there won't be further stoppages."

Clamor grew in congress, meanwhile, for President Truman to step in to restore the normal five-day work week in the soft coal fields:

1. Six republican senators introduced a resolution calling on Mr. Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley law's emergency provisions to restore full production. Mr. Truman has so far contended the three-day week has caused no fuel emergency.

2. Rep. Jacobs (D-Ind.), a labor attorney who favors repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, told reporters the White House should invoke the law's court injunction provisions to get full production going again in his home state—plus other midwest states "and anywhere else it's needed."

"Any time you shut down an entire industry you've gone too far," Jacobs said. "Many labor men have approved my position. Remember, they burn coal too."

Plasterer Baby Sits For Shopping Mother Three Days

Omaha, Jan. 11.—(P)—A 35-year-old bachelor today told how he "mothered" a brood of seven children for three days after the mother induced him to baby-sit while she went down town, then failed to return.

The impromptu baby-sitter, Charles Padgett, a plasterer, said he went to the Kenneth Durbin home to do some plastering, and while he was there Mrs. Durbin asked him to watch her seven children, aged 10 months to 11 years, while she went down town. She has not been seen since.

"I sure learned a lot about diapers in a hurry," said Padgett after welfare workers relieved him of his charges. "It was lucky I knew how to cook. No one complained."

"I was afraid to leave the kids alone," he continued. "I finally put them to bed after I fixed dinner. I kept watching for the mother. Finally I fell asleep and slept all night in a chair."

By Monday food was running low and Padgett had to borrow from a neighbor.

Monday night, the Nebraska humane society came and took the children to the Nebraska Children's Home.

"I don't know how they found out, but it was a relief," said Padgett. "I didn't want to call because I kept thinking the mother would come back."

The father, a construction worker employed in Indianapolis, was reported on his way to Omaha today.

They had been negotiating before conciliator Blake C. Smith of the federal mediation and conciliation service, Chicago.

Flying Arrow Abandons Attempt To Reach Shanghai

New York, Jan. 11.—(P)—The Isbrandtsen Co., Inc., said tonight it is abandoning its efforts to get a ship, the Flying Arrow, into Nationalist-protected Shanghai.

The company said in a statement that the ship has been ordered to Tsingtao, which it called the nearest safe port.

The Flying Arrow was heavily shelled Monday as it tried to make its way into Shanghai against the objections of the Nationalist government.

"In view of the unexpected and unwarranted attack (upon it) we do not consider it justified to expose the vessel and crew to further loss," the company said.

The company did not say whether other of its ships, poised for an attempt to reach Shanghai, would be similarly diverted. The statement said only:

"We are not, however, abandoning or interrupting our regular services to Hongkong and other Chinese ports which we have maintained for years and intend to maintain."

Isbrandtsen said it has lately been absorbing "the brunt of the effort

River Crests Believed Near

By The Associated Press
Emergency sandbag squads braced weakened dikes Wednesday awaiting the surging crest of turbulent rivers in Indiana and Illinois. More rain was expected.

In the nation's northwest, the weather bureau said the furious blizzard which whipped the area with crippling effect Tuesday and Wednesday whistled over the Rockies.

But frost was expected in California after a heavy rain hit Los Angeles.

Leak In Russellville Levee
An increasing leak in the Wabash river levee at Russellville, a town of 224 persons on the Indiana-Illinois boundary line kept sandbag crews sweating. They had to truck sandbags 500 miles by roundabout roads to escape floodwaters.

John Ritter, assistant Illinois state police chief, called the Russellville and Maunle levee areas "danger spots." Maunle, a village of 525 population, is about 25 miles west of Evansville, Ind.

But breaks there would add but a few more persons to the hundreds of refugees in the water soaked region, Ritter said.

The Wabash was expected to crest at Vincennes, Ind., Wednesday. Vincennes has a population of 20,000.

Can Handle 30-Foot Top
Army engineers said they had men and equipment on hand to cope with a 30-foot top, a maximum of 27½ feet was expected. In 1943 a 29 foot crest gnawed at the levee banks. At 16 feet, the river is considered at flood stage, overflowing bottom lands.

The village of Eminson, nine miles north of Vincennes, became a little Venice, but townsfolk sat tight as their lawns flooded.

Telephone crews went out from Vincennes in boats. They attempted to restore communications with Lawrenceville, Ill., across the river. Farm families and livestock moved out of the way of the White river's path at Orrville, Ind., 25 miles southwest of Vincennes.

At Hazleton, Ind., on the White river, a Wabash tributary, the waters inched past the 29 foot mark. Indiana national guardsmen with trucks and boats took residents from a section of town.

A washout of U. S. highway 41 was expected. This happened during the record 1947 flood.

At old Shawneetown a few miles south of where the Wabash was dumping into the Ohio, Chief Ritter said he expected the town to "fill up like a tub full of holes."

The 60-foot Ohio river levee there, Ritter said, "has had no repairs for years," and he expected seepage to fill the streets of the town of 900.

The 1937 flood caused most Shawneetown residents to move to high ground in New Shawneetown. Floodstage at Shawneetown is 33 feet. A crest of 51 is expected this week end.

The federal weather forecasters said there will be rain in the soaked area "some time Thursday."

Expect Truman's Tax Message To Be Made Public Soon

Washington, Jan. 11.—(P)—President Truman's "moderate increase" tax program, still a secret after three messages to congress, probably will be made public next week, the White House indicated today.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that Mr. Truman hopes to have the special message ready by that time. He is still working on it and there is no chance it will be presented this week, Ross said.

The secrecy which the president has thrown about his forthcoming recommendations was reported to be resulting in some fidgets among administration supporters in congress.

According to one House member with strong White House connections Mr. Truman hasn't made a move to discuss his proposals in advance with the congressmen who will have to carry the ball once the plan is made known. It is a tough assignment to put across a tax bill in a session year and the difficulties are multiplied when the tax authorities on Capitol Hill have no advance opportunity to smooth the path.

62 KILLED IN BOMBING

London, Thursday, Jan. 12.—(P)—The Soviet news agency Tass said today Chinese Nationalist bombers killed 62 persons in a raid Saturday on Communist-held Shanghai. More than 40 persons were wounded and 20 houses were destroyed in the raid, Tass reported.

Charges Politics In Adams County Board Of Health

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 11.—(P)—Dr. Walter Stevenson, president of the Illinois State Medical society, resigned today from the Adams county board of health, charging political interference with the board's membership.

The board's chairman, Dr. Hugh M. Tarpley, also resigned.

Two other members of the seven-man body said they were considering quitting the board.

The resignations came after the Adams county board of supervisors, headed by Vernon O'Brien, named a new member to the board and reappointed a woman member.

Board membership is limited to seven, and Dr. Tarpley, whose term as board chairman and president of the county health department had six months to run, said he interpreted the new appointment as an attempt to oust him.

The new appointee is Dr. James Haffner. Re-named to the board was Mrs. Roy Arnold.

Dr. Stevenson resigned after a meeting of the board attended by O'Brien in which the medical society president asked the supervisor if there was "pressure group" influence in Dr. Haffner's appointment.

WORDS THAT WOO BUSINESS NEED BACKING BY ACTION

President Truman plainly wants business to be happier. He doesn't want its leaders to feel he's gunning for them simply because he's promoting the Fair Deal.

In recent proof of this attitude we have the annual report of his Council of Economic Advisers. Mr. Truman approved the document and two of his top aides had a hand in shaping it.

It's a surprising report. At a time when businessmen are talking as if they were definitely on the run before advancing big government, the President has chosen to reassure them in the friendliest and most complimentary words to come out of the White House since the old Republican days.

Business has been fearful its freedom might be snuffed out by the "creeping socialism" it sees in a welfare state. Mr. Truman's advisers say this country is firmly committed to freedom for both business and government—that each has a distinct contribution to make toward economic well-being.

The advisers not only say the two may live together in harmony. They contend this co-operation already exists. They credit both business and government for the highly successful war effort and for what they consider the enlightened policies that have kept the economy on relatively even keel since the war.

On the other hand, the report blames both businessmen and statesmen for the Great Depression. Heretofore it has usually been the former who bore the full weight of criticism for that collapse.

Most remarkable of all, the advisers openly urge business to disagree with government. They argue that business SHOULD be conservative—wary about tossing away workable ideas before better ones have been clearly tested. A clash of views, they said, actually is beneficial to the nation, especially when undertaken in "good spirit."

It remains to be seen how business will react to these pats on the back. Probably its leaders will look for some new sign from the Administration that the advisers' talk of co-operation is more than words.

Should Mr. Truman make that sign, businessmen perhaps will feel greater encouragement than they have for many a year. But the President has cut out a hard task for himself in this effort to brighten every corner.

If Gallbladder
Inflamed, Surgery
Often Considered

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service.

Each year thousands of patients have to submit to an operation involving removal of the gallbladder. In some cases this is because stones are present in the gallbladder; in others, it is because the wall or lining of the gallbladder becomes inflamed, producing pain and other symptoms.

Now the gallbladder lies under the liver and ribs on the right side. It is shaped like a small pear and is hollow. In the human body its principal function seems to be to store bile, a substance manufactured in the liver, emptied into the intestines and useful in digestion, particularly the digestion of fatty substances.

Bile Should Flow
When the bile does not flow freely, germs can grow inside the gallbladder and other irritations and troubles can develop. In addition to the formation of stones in the gallbladder, the gallbladder can become acutely or chronically inflamed. If the inflammation or infection comes on suddenly the condition is called acute cholecystitis. This is often accompanied by pain on the right side of the abdomen which sometimes extends toward the back under the right shoulder.

The chronic form of cholecystitis has much the same symptoms as the acute variety but they are not so severe. Almost always there is some disturbance in the digestive tract and people almost always complain of a "full feeling," "gas on the stomach," or similar vague distress. Sometimes inflammation of the gallbladder can be improved by giving chemical substances by mouth which stimulate the emptying of the gallbladder. This is not always successful, however, and when it is not, operation to remove the organ has to be seriously considered.

Child Counselor In Schools Tells Of Special Work

Some children cannot adjust themselves to school life and social contacts without special guidance, according to Ralph Heiss, visiting counselor in the Jacksonville school system, who addressed the Optimist club Tuesday evening at Hamilton's Cafe.

Often the trouble is natural shyness; again it may be traceable to home environment, or numerous other factors which might cause children to fall out of the normal class. Mr. Heiss works with children and teachers in bringing about adjustments by which most cases are improved or the trouble entirely eliminated.

The special work done by Mr. Heiss is sponsored by a department of the Illinois Department of Education, in cooperation with local boards of education.

He told of a little girl who moved from another town to this city, who "lived within herself," refusing to talk to her teachers or fellow pupils, except for "yes" and "no" answers. Another example of maladjustment was a boy who seemed to be "jet-propelled," so rough at school that his presence was a continuous problem. Mr. Heiss said in his work as visiting counselor he found that the boy was subject to such strict discipline at home that he had no opportunity to "blow off steam" except when he went to school.

The speaker described the course taken by the visiting counselor to turn the boy into a normal pupil. With the cooperation of his relatives, he was given time for recreation and a few picture shows and other entertainment helped to calm down his exuberance.

Mr. Heiss said some cases which cannot be corrected by the local worker are referred to state psychologists for expert tests.

President C. Frank Janssen announced that a district meeting of the Optimist club will be held Jan. 24 at Champaign. A communication from Sheriff Ralph Bourn, read by Secretary John Wright, asked the cooperation of the club in the Junior League program in Morgan county.

New York —(AP)— There's a cantankerous old galoot in town who says he's Jesse James, and I wish he wouldn't say it.

Because there is always the odd doubt it might be true. And that would be as disturbing as if Robin Hood should come alive again, and lose a bow-and-arrow match with an unemployed Indian.

Mrs. O. N. Foreman
Speaks On League Of Women Voters

"A temporary committee set up to teach women how to mark their ballots when they were first given the right to vote developed into the present League of Women Voters," Mrs. O. N. Foreman told members of the Morgan County Democratic Women's club at their January meeting held at Hamilton's Cafe Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Foreman, who is vice-president of the Illinois State League, traced the history of the organization and outlined the purposes of national, state, and local leagues. "Women hadn't been meeting together to study public affairs long," she continued, "before they discovered that women had a distinctive point of view and that there were many matters on which there was no political division—upon which informed citizens of both parties agreed. On that basis, the League of Women Voters has operated for almost 30 years."

In closing her address, Mrs. Foreman said, "Democracy is so important to us that it takes all of us a good deal of the time to carry on its affairs, and it is the aim of the League to help every woman to recognize her responsibilities as a citizen and to stimulate discussion among women of both parties so that they will arrive at conclusions which will lead to constructive action."

Mrs. C. J. Neuner led the group in the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and Mrs. Mary Wall, program chairman for the evening, introduced the speaker.

At the close of the business session, during which the president, Miss Hazel Strawn, presided, Mrs. Reah Muller, chairman of hostesses for the evening, and her committee, Mrs. Lillian Lair, Mrs. Pearl Cooper and Mrs. Armeada Stone, presented O. A. Schutte who entertained the group with a movie showing scenes taken on a trip to Alaska which Mr. and Mrs. Schutte, in company with Dr. and Mrs. Marion Summers, took last summer.

CAA's Bright, Young Planners Seek New Way to End Air Traffic Crashes

Washington—(NEA)—Four bright young government planners have been working for a year on advances in air traffic control designed to prevent the sort of crashes and near-misses lately plaguing the Washington airport.

The steady rise in air travel and consequent overcrowding of the air lanes over busy centers has worried the Civil Aeronautics Administration for a long time. It decided positive steps were needed. It set up a special committee to examine the problem and the committee wound up by naming the four-man planning team to up-date traffic control and navigation systems.

To get the bold, original thinkers desired for this job, the CAA committee tossed away dusty seniority rules and canvassed its far-flung personnel in an elaborate screening process.

Out of this careful weighing of talent came the members of the present team—Jack Hilton, Tom Dodson, Roy Jones and Simon Justman. This quartet—average age 35—was lifted from obscurity in the CAA ranks and handed one of the toughest assignments in aviation history.

How tough can be gauged from the Nov. 1 collision that sent 55 persons to their deaths over Washington, from the close call Vice President Barkley's plane had about a week later, and from the constant confusion and danger that surrounds the regular "stacking" of aircraft over landing fields when weather is bad or traffic heavy.

The CAA's young planners know these troubles first hand. Hilton more than once sweated it out for an hour or so in the CAA control tower at Indianapolis airport, trying to bring in a lost plane that was holding up big stacks of circling planes. He was chief controller there and one of the first CAA men trained in so-called Ground Controlled Approach operations.

Jones, a 20-year veteran of aviation, served as an air route traffic controller for CAA from 1941 to 1948. He began his career with private airlines, learned to fly and do a variety of other jobs, including the writing of a text on navigation. When he joined the planning team he was senior controller at St. Louis.

Dodson was working as chief communicator at the CAA's desert post in Lovelock, Nev. He felt buried there, for no promotion had been on the horizon since 1942. The new assignment was reward for his 16 years of radio operating experience in the Navy, the FCC and the CAA. Only Justman was already stationed in Washington when team selections were made. As a radar engineer with training in the Air Force laboratories at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, he had been brought into the CAA's communications engineering section in the capital.

The screening program that culled these men from 160 applicants emphasized five main qualifications. Tests or interviews were used to determine fitness for the exacting task ahead. The five traits looked for:

AIRPORT TRAFFIC PUZZLE: CAA planners Simon Justman, Leslie Kullenberg and Roy Jones (left to right) study a complicated model used to visualize traffic patterns over an airport.

1. A keen sense of space relationship, a characteristic considered vital to any real grasp of how to juggle hundreds of aircraft in overburdened air lanes during the course of a typical day.
2. General intelligence, with stress on analytical powers.
3. Broad interest in all kinds of scientific and social development, to assure that team members would be able to adapt knowledge from other fields to traffic control problems.
4. Creative thinking, to make certain that the planners would not be hamstrung by outworn ideas in their search for new solutions.
5. "Social intelligence," by which the screening committee meant the ability of a man to get along with others in working on a difficult job. Interviews were employed to measure applicants here, with the likeliest candidates being subjected to severe grilling.

Washington Puzzles Over Thomas' Explosion After His Red Plush Welcome In Sweden

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
Washington — (NEA) — The mystery deepens in Washington on what made Senator Elmer Thomas so sore on his recent visit to Stockholm, Sweden. The Swedish embassy, which has been trying to solve the riddle for its own future guidance when the Thomas appropriations subcommittee gets back home, claims the six junketing senators were given the number one social treatment.

The Swedish capital apparently thought it rolled out just the right amount of red plush carpet to make and keep everybody happy. But later, in Vienna, Thomas told reporters that "one country, into which we have been pouring money and which we visited, ignored us completely. If they get one dollar in the next bill it will be over my protest." A colleague said Thomas was talking about Sweden.

The six senators in the party were Chairman Thomas of Oklahoma, McClellan of Arkansas, Thye of Minnesota, Chavez of New Mexico, Stennis of Mississippi and Robertson of Virginia. They were honor guests at a dinner for 120 given by U. S. Ambassador Freeman Matthews at the American Embassy on the night of their arrival, Oct. 28. Prime Minister Tage Erlander himself attended, as ranking guest, and there were other cabinet officers.

Next evening, after a day of conferences with Swedish officials, the Americans were guests at a reception given by the government at Grand Hotel. More than 100 Swedish officials and prominent citizens turned out to honor the visiting senators. They included members of the cabinet, the foreign office and both houses of parliament. There were quoted as saying that "the role Sweden played in the Marshall Plan was invaluable." One of the Stockholm newspapers editorialized that Senator Thomas "gives the impression of a distinguished gentleman."

All the other American senators talked and answered questions. Satisfaction was expressed with the way Sweden had used U. S. money. The opinion was volunteered that Sweden had helped the United States to help other nations with the millions that Sweden had received from the United States mainly in the form of loans.

At the second press conference, on Saturday, the senators were asked if Sweden could buy arms from the United States, even though it was not an Atlantic Pact country. Senator Thomas, speaking for the group, replied that they could, insofar as arms were available. This statement was headlined in one Stockholm paper as:

NO REASON SWEDEN CAN'T BUY U. S. ARMS
The only sour note was that the communist newspaper in Stockholm panned the senators and all American motives. That was only to be expected, however, and no Swede of importance paid it any attention.

Price Cuts Bring Profits

Copenhagen — (AP) — A Danish restaurant-keeper lowered prices on meals to the 1925-level. His restaurant was packed with guests raising the turnover by some 200 per cent.

His colleagues reacted by denouncing him as a madman. But as time went by without the predicted failure of other restaurant-owners followed suit.

The accountants of the restaurant-owners back the new policy as long as the turnover stays 50 per cent above normal.

TRADE PUSHED AT KASHMIR FRONT LINE

Srinagar, Kashmir, — (AP) — Barter trade is being conducted across the cease-fire line in Kashmir despite restrictions on the movement of people and goods.

Kashmiris living along the line are reported to be using difficult mountain passes for the unauthorized trading. People on the Pakistan side usually offer rock salt, wheat flour and snuff while residents of Indian-held Kashmir supply sugar, cloth, rice and vegetables.

BELGIAN SHIPS NEAR NORMAL

Brussels — (AP) — Belgium's merchant fleet has almost recovered pre-war dimensions. Until Sept. 30, 1949 one hundred ships were flying the Belgian tricolor with a gross tonnage of 414,779.

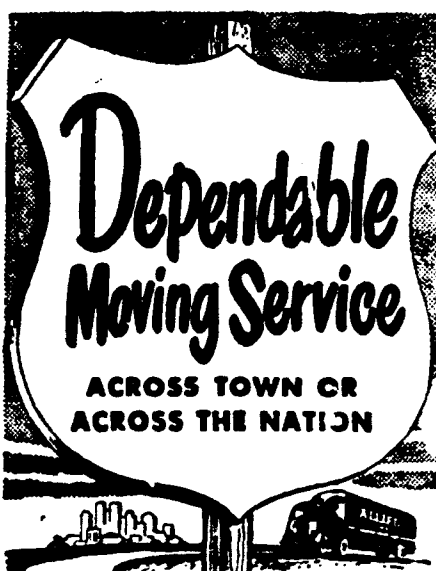

This compares with the 101 ships in the fleet as of May, 1940, when Belgium was invaded. They had a gross weight of 443,000 tons.

Why Scoop No Longer Works Here

Scoop Blake paid us a friendly call at the Clarion's office last week and we were talking about when he was a reporter here.

"Remember how mad I got when I found out you were writing that election story right from your desk?" I asked him. "And how I made you get out and learn what a sheriff's job was all about?"

"I sure do, Joe," said Scoop. "I want to thank you for teaching me the 'hat-trick'—putting on my hat and finding out the facts, that is." Then we both had a good laugh because he found out so much that darn if he didn't run and get elected sheriff himself!

From where I sit, we should find out the facts before we try to talk about anything. When we do, we're inclined to be more tolerant... we're apt to understand a little more about the other fellow's preference for, say, his political candidate or for a temperate glass of beer now and then. I say, if you don't want to get tripped up, don't leap to conclusions!

An annual budget will be adopted and an election held at the annual meeting of the congregation Friday, beginning with a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the church house basement, 316 E. Superior avenue. Three councilmen will be chosen, two for three year terms and one for one year.

Public Library Notes

A 1949 revision of the "International Cyclopaedia of Music and Musicians" edited by Thompson has been placed on the reference room at the Public Library.

The "Home Book of Bible Quotation" is another contribution of Burton Stevenson to a series of quotation books so useful when one is hunting for a half remembered phrase.

The "Album of American History," with its wealth of illustrations has now been made accessible by the completion of the Index volume. Some 27 pictures are listed under "Chicago" and five pages are given to listing "Costume."

Three biographies are worth noting. "Father Flanagan of Boys Town" by Fulton Oursler, "Sam Higginbotham, Farmer" an autobiography, and "Zane Gray" by Jean Karr. Those who have followed Grey's long list of western tales may now learn what the man himself was like.

"Cancer" by Beka Doherty gives new light on its cause, detection, treatments, cures and the brilliant promise of today's research.

"America's Health, a report to the Nation" is a publication of the National Health Association.

A little book of poetry by a young Chicago poet, Gwendolyn Brooks, is entitled "Annie Allen."

Two Boys Taken Back To State Training School

Two teen age Jacksonville boys were taken back to the St. Charles training school Wednesday because they wouldn't behave themselves while enjoying liberty.

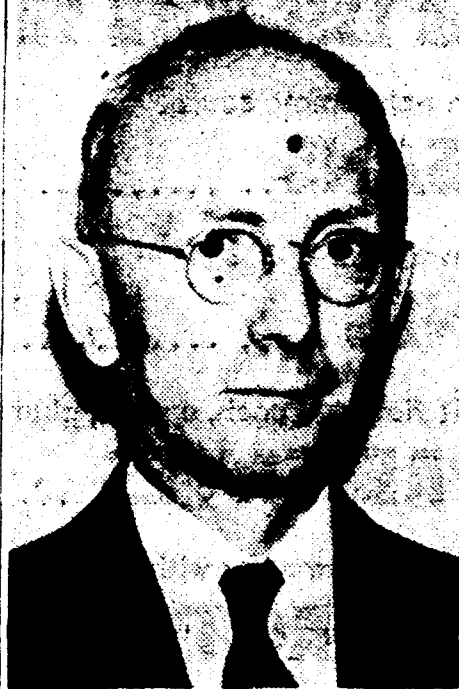

Raymond Hayes, 15, and Thomas DuWayne Picton, 14, who confessed Tuesday to the theft of an automobile which they abandoned after riding around several hours, were returned to the state school by Clyde Taylor of Chapin, a juvenile parole officer. Both were on parole when they were picked up by police for questioning concerning the theft of a car belonging to R. E. Fairfield.

The boys drove to Virginia and Beardstown, then abandoned the car in a pasture on East Walnut street. Officers accompanied Hayes to the corner of Hackett avenue and Hockenhull street Tuesday afternoon, where he had buried the car keys, which were found and returned to the owner.

Both Hayes and Picton denied that they knew anything about a couple of tavern robberies early Tuesday morning.

The mathematical probability that a student in a college math class will follow in the footsteps of his professor is not usually great, nor is it likely that the two will write a book together. Yet this is true at Illinois College.

Earle B. Miller, Hitchcock professor of mathematics, and one of his former students at the college, Robert M. Thrall, are the co-authors of a new textbook, "College Algebra," published this month by the Ronald Press company, New York. Mr. Thrall is now a mathematics professor at the University of Michigan.

EARLE B. MILLER

The nearly parallel careers of the teacher and former-student-turned-teacher does not stop here. Both are members of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity, and of Sigma Xi, national honorary science fraternity. In addition, the two names are listed in the "American Men of Science" directory.

Professor Miller is the author of a previous work, "Intermediate Algebra for Colleges," published in 1947. Before joining the Illinois College faculty in 1927 he taught at the University of Kansas, Swarthmore College and the University of Wisconsin.

Thrall was graduated by Illinois College in 1935. He is the son of Dr. C. H. Thrall, religious education secretary of the Illinois Conference of the Methodist church, with offices at the Buck Memorial library at Bloomington.

Why State Department Gambles On China

By Sigrid Arne
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Washington — It's a complicated gamble the U.S. State Department takes as it makes its week-to-week decisions on what to do about the revolution in China. That war sees the Communists taking over larger and larger hunks of their nation.

U.S. over-all policy is the old one — keep the 450,000,000 Chinese as friends and keep an open door in China for U.S. trade. The gamble lies in what the Chinese Communists will do.

The State Department has had four years to discover what the European Communists might do in Middle Europe. They found that diplomats were denied free travel in the area, reporters denied free reporting; trade in Middle Europe subjected to approval by Communist governments. The result has been that the volume of American trade is cut down.

The State Department has urged that America spend billions in Europe each year to stop the spread of Communism in that area. But in China, two years ago, the State Department advised that the U.S. cut down its aid to the Nationalists who were fighting the Communists.

Now the State Department has administered only a slight rebuke to the American shipping company — the Isbrandtsen Line of New York — which is running goods into the Chinese Communists, a group which this government still does not recognize, past the navy of the Chinese Nationalists, which it does recognize.

The U.S. government revealed its current hand on China in the last sessions of the United Nations in early December. There the U.S. opposed a Chinese move to condemn the part the Russians had taken (this was a Chinese contention) in helping the Chinese Communists to overthrow the old Chinese government.

Instead the U.S. proposed that all U.N. members vote to insure the "integrity" of China and to permit the Chinese to work out their own problems. That was the essence of the United Nations charter, signed in 1945.

It is against this background that State Department China policy is now made.

First, State Department spokesmen think there is no real proof that Moscow controls the Chinese Communists. They point out that although they had trouble getting American consul Angus Ward out of China, other Americans were working in four other cities in Chinese Communist territory.

This leads State Department Far Eastern experts to hope that Chinese Communist leaders are as badly split as the old Chinese war lords, who ran their own areas as they pleased. Out of such a Chinese Communist split, some State Department people think they can turn up a Chinese Tito who will rebel against dictation from Moscow.

Further, State Department spokesmen point out hopefully that China, whether controlled by Nationalists or Communists, must buy some of its rice from other nations. Rice is the important food of the Chinese peasant, and if he doesn't get it for long, he rebels.

State Department spokesmen say the Chinese Communists will have toicker for this rice, which should leave trade gates open. Here again the department people can't and don't say whether Chinese Communists will act differently than, for example, Russian Communists, who permitted wide-spread famine in the Soviet Union during the '30s.

Good Posture From Infancy

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The mother who wants her newborn infant to grow up to be a fine figure of a woman will start encouraging good posture even before her baby sits up.

She won't invite curves by propping the baby's back with pillows before her infant is ready to sit up. Not until a child's back has grown strong enough to support her, should she be encouraged to sit on a bed, or floor, or in a pram.

The same rule holds for walking. Some babies crawl an inordinately long time before they take their first tentative steps. But there's nothing about that to cause a mother to worry. Let alone, a child will crawl until she's ready to toddle. When she's ready, legs and back will be strong enough to support her in an upright position.

A mother can help that natural transition along by giving her little crawler plenty of room in which to roam. If she's cooped up, a crawling baby with a lively curiosity or strong sense of adventure is going to pull up in order to see what's going on in the little world outside of her play pen.

When a baby ripens into the walking stage, well-fitting shoes are an important safeguard of future posture and pretty, well-formed feet. The person who should have the honor of fitting the first pair of walking shoes on a little girl—and on a little boy as well—is a trusted shoe salesman.

Chapin Nicks So. Jacks; Our Saviour's Wins In PMSC Meet

Meredosia Fast-Break Tires Rout; Indians Win PMBC Tilt 53-35

A fast-breaking Meredosia Indian basketball team pulled no punches in racing to a 53-35 PMBC conference victory over the hard-put Routt Rockets on Our Saviour's court last night.

Routt, who still seems to be feeling the effects of a two-weeks layoff after the holidays, couldn't run with the speedy tribe from the Illinois river after the first quarter. Big Paul Saner, Routt center, kept the locals in the game with some neat pivot shots but still the Stroudmen lagged 12-10 at this juncture—the narrowest gap in the score they enjoyed all night.

Meredosia Forward Allen and Darrel Nortrup sped down the Rocket's home court time and again to score with lay-up shots. Allen contributed 17 points to the Meredosia total and Nortrup rang the bell for 16.

Routt shooting was kept at a minimum by close Meredosia defensive work. The Rockets hit 12 times from the field and depended on gift tosses for the rest of their points.

A. J. Spreen, Routt guard and captain, had better luck than his water, netting 14 tallies on four fielders and a half-dozen free throws.

Meredosia led 25-17 at halftime and kept the eight-point lead in the third period, ahead 37-29 going into the final chapter. The visitors, apparently as strong as ever, rode roughshod over the thing Rockets and scored at the rate of two a minute in the last eight minutes of play, while Routt could garner but six.

Paul Stroud takes his Routt crew to Springfield Friday night to lock horns with the Tradesmen of St. James.

The Routt second team pulled a 51-50 decision out of the fire for a curtain-raiser victory over Meredosia reserves.

Second Half Rally Nets I.S.D. Kid Five 39-36 Win Over DP

I.S.D.'s grade school hoop artists waited until the final quarter to pull away from their David Prince intracity hardwood rivals and retain a 39-36 victory on the westend boards last night.

David Prince led 21-13 at halftime. Scott, David Prince guard, led all scoring for the evening, racking up 23 points on 10 field goals and three gift tosses. Rumpely dumped in 19 counters for the Tiger Cubs.

The David Prince seventh grade quintet topped I.S.D.'s second team 35-2 in the preliminary fracas.

Sammy Baugh May Consider Offer Of Coaching Job

Rotan, Tex., Jan. 11.—(P)—Slinger Sammy Baugh, meal ticket of the Washington Redskins, said tonight Baylor university officials had asked him if he'd be interested in a job as head football coach of the Bears. Baugh said he would be.

Contacted at his ranch near here, Baugh said, "They came out here and talked to me about it, but I won't know anything until they have a board meeting."

"I figure they've talked to about a dozen other guys, too," the lanky passing wizard of pro football said. (Thomas E. Turner, chief of the Dallas News Central Texas Bureau, said in a story from Waco that Baugh "appeared to be moving out in front" in the Baptist school's search for a coach to replace Bob Woodruff, who quit recently to go to the University of Florida.)

(Turner said authoritative sources agreed that the preliminary hunt had narrowed down to Baugh, Backfield Coach Rusty Russell of Southern Methodist, and Don Faurot of Missouri.)

Slayers Of Three Negro Children Captured By Posse

Salis, Miss., Jan. 11.—(P)—A fast-triggered prison trusty today captured the last two men of a white trio hunted as the drunken marauders who slaughtered three Negro children.

Two weeks earlier the three men had been arrested on charges of trying to rape the children's mother and for armed burglary. They broke out of jail Dec. 30 with a beer can opener and later returned to the Negroes' home in drunken vengeance "to kill the whole family," District Attorney Henry Rodgers said.

The hunted men—Leon Turner, 38-year-old former convict, and Wendell Whit, 24—were ferreted out of a small potato house, two miles from the home of Turner's father near Salis. They offered no resistance. Their captors were prepared for a shoot-to-kill gun battle.

The trusty, known as "Hog Jack" Mullen of the Mississippi penitentiary at Parchman, followed two bloodhounds to their hide-out in the dawn breaking hours, climaxing a 57-hour manhunt.

Mullen flushed the two men with six quick shots into the shoulder-high potato hut as supporting police officers and possemen closed behind him. Turner was slightly wounded in the back.

Less than three hours after the capture the Mississippi senate—now in session at Jackson—praised the posse's work and called for a speedy trial.

The two men and Whit's brother, 32-year-old Malcolm Whit, were sought for the slaying last Sunday of the three Negro children—Frankie Thurman, 10; Mary Burnside, 8; and Ruby Nell Harris, 4.

PMBC coaches called their shot to perfection at the tournament pairing meeting last night. It looks like Mt. Sterling all the way with only a slight pause for breath at the end of the three games. Spike Wilson's I.S.D. quint, though beaten once this season by Chapin, may find a way into the finals against the stinging Green Hornets.

Chambersburg, the title-defending team, can't be forgotten. But as luck would have it the Burgers were matched against Mt. Sterling in the first game, and they're due for an early death in the meet.

Still there's a soft spot in our heart for the boys from the Burg. We've picked them to win no less than four tournaments in the last two years and they've never let us down. Therefore, if only to preserve that record, we'll have to play traitor this trip.

Speaking of playing traitor, we're kinda deserting two local clubs, I.S.D. and Routt, by picking the Brown county club to win in a breeze. Honestly, we just don't think the Jacksonville quint pack the necessary punch to cope with Mt. Sterling in a tournament grind. Especially after checking that 58-48 tally the Hornets turned in against Jacksonville high Tuesday night.

A quick peek at the University of Illinois' gift to pro basketball ranks shows the inimitable Dike Eddleman turning in workmanlike performances nightly with the Quad-City Blackhawks. Team mates Gene Vance and Walt Kirk are also University alumni.

Other Illini in the pro league include Sheboygan's Jack Burmaster, Chicago's Andy Phillip and Waterloo's Stan Patrick and Jack Smiley.

Eddleman sports the Blackhawks' top scoring average with 12.3 for 31 games and incidentally leads his brother Illini, Phillip, who leads the league in assists with 154, has an 11.8 average with the Stags, and is trailed by Vance, 10 points with the Hawks; Burmaster, 8.8; Patrick, 7.2; Kirk, 5.0 and Smiley 3.2.

Bluffs, Arenzville Win First-Rounders; Semi-Finals Tonight

Semi-Finals Tonight
Arenzville vs. Bluffs (7 p.m.)
Chapin vs. Our Saviour's (8 p.m.)

Merle Wade's South Jacksonville hoopers were knocked from the running in the first round of the PMSC tournament at the southside gym last night when Chapin engineered a stirring 28-26 victory.

Our Saviour's, the other local entry, had little trouble eliminating Chambersburg from action in the other game last night, nicking the Burgers 36-29.

Bluffs and Perry staged a thriller in the second bout yesterday afternoon with the Scott county club finally coming from behind in the final period to gain a 31-30 ticket into the semi-finals.

Arenzville won the right to oppose Bluffs in the first semi-final tussle this evening by kicking the Meredosia kid-cagers 32-14 in the first game of the tournament Wednesday afternoon.

Highest scoring mark for the day was strung up by Chapin center Aufdenkamp who netted 21 tallies against the South Jacks. Kemp of South Jacksonville scored 17 points.

Other high scorers were Costello and McGuire of Our Saviour's with 12 and 11 each; Vose of Perry, 10; Edlen and Merris of Bluffs 15 and 10 respectively and G. Lovekamp and J. Coats, Arenzville, 11 and 10 apiece.

The semi-finals tussles are set to start at 8 and 8 p.m. on the South Jacksonville boards tonight. Consolation and championship games are scheduled for Friday.

Thrills were in order at the opening session of the PMSC conference grade school basketball tournament in the new South Jacksonville grade school gymnasium yesterday afternoon and evening. Crowd-pleaser of the day was Bluffs' last quarter rally and one-point victory over a fast-stepping (but zone-defense playing) Perry outfit. Crowd-disappointer was Paul Blakeman's Chapin quintet's two-point decision over the South Jacksonville host five.

Semi-final bouts tonight should provide more skips for youthful fans' hearts. Four evenly-matched kid ball clubs are ready to give it all they've got to gain a championship berth. For those who like to see keenly competitive basketball, we'll recommend the kind of grade school basketball that's being played at South Jacksonville this week over anything that the kids' big brothers can put out.

Negro Night Club Entertainer Weds White Heiress

New York, Jan. 11.—(P)—A negro night club entertainer and a white heiress were honeymooning on a Caribbean cruise today despite the bride's parents' objection to their marriage.

Billy Daniels, singer at the Park Avenue Restaurant, and Martha Braun, actress daughter of a wealthy Lowell, Mass., family, were married Monday.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Carl Braun, Sr., said in Lowell that she opposed Martha's marriage "because of her youth and promising career."

The 21-year-old girl left home unbeknownst to her parents last Saturday and her mother said she first learned of the marriage when her daughter telephoned "in a highly emotional state" to ask forgiveness the morning after the wedding.

She met Daniels, 34, more than two years ago. He, too, is financially well off. His first wife died four years ago.

RUSSELL, MADISON SEPARATED

Hollywood, Jan. 11.—(P)—Film players Gail Russell and Guy Madison, who were married July 31, have separated, the actress said today.

MAKES PIANIST PLAY AGAINST HIS WILL

Toronto, Jan. 11.—(P)—Pianist Jerry Velasco of New York said in court today a dance hall patron, threatening him with a knife, compelled him to play Liszt's "Liebestraum" over and over again.

The court found Richard M. Whan, a carpenter, guilty of having a concealed weapon and fined him $75.

NATIVE MUSIC

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jan. 11.—(P)—Music lovers down Argentine way are going to listen to a lot more of their native tunes from now on. President Peron's government ruled that at least 50 per cent of all music played in public places must be written in Argentina.

The decree is expected to cut down the playing of United States swing numbers, Cuban rumbas, Brazilian sambas and even European classics.

Los Angeles Open Playoffs Postponed Because Of Rain

Los Angeles, Jan. 11.—(P)—Rain washed out the 24th annual Los Angeles Open golf tournament play-off today, forcing postponement of the Sam Snead-Ben Hogan 18-hole match until next Wednesday. Similar weather caused a delay in tournament play Sunday.

It was an embarrassing decision for the climate-conscious Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the $15,000 tournament. But it won approval of the two contestants and a handful of spectators, ready to brave a steady downpour.

Neither Snead nor Hogan insisted on the delay. Both merely said they felt they'd play better golf if they waited for a dry day.

Willie Hunter, professional at the Riviera course where the tournament began last Friday, called the course playable.

But in the end, after a half-hour's locked door conference among chamber, Professional Golf Association and club officials, and the two principals, the chamber announced: "All sides agreed to play, but in the interests of good golf it was decided to call it off."

That left Hogan, back on the tournament trail less than a year after a traffic accident which nearly took his life, and Snead, golf's hottest competitor while Hogan was bedridden, still deadlocked at the 280 strokes with which they finished yesterday's round.

Mt. Sterling Rated Team To Beat In PMBC Tournament Jan. 24-27

Kenneth "Spike" Wilson, ISD athletic director, basketball coach and secretary of the PMBC conference, released the pairings for the annual loop tournament last night. Drawings were made at a meeting of coaches in the ISD gymnasium.

Mt. Sterling was rated the number-one team in the tournament. Chapin, Routt, ISD, Meredosia, Chambersburg, Bluffs and Perry followed in that order.

The PMBC meet, staged every year on the ISD court, will get underway Tuesday, Jan. 24, and continue through Friday, Jan. 27. Chambersburg, rated sixth this year, was last season's champ and will defend its title by going against the highly-favored Mt. Sterling Hornets in the first game Tuesday.

Game times are set for 7:15 and 8:45 every evening from the first-round bouts to the consolation and championship tangles.

Here is how the first-round games are lined up, Tuesday—Mt. Sterling vs. Chambersburg and Routt vs. Perry. Wednesday—Chapin vs. Meredosia and ISD vs. Bluffs.

Notre Dame Runs Cage String To Four, Wins 58-53

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 11.—(P)—Notre Dame ran its basketball victory string to four straight by beating DePaul tonight, 58-53.

The Irish ran up a 28-14 halftime lead and withstood DePaul's second-half challenge. Kevin O'Shea scored 21 of the victors' points.

The demons got themselves 40-19 in the hole with eight minutes gone in the second half and then almost pulled the game out of the fire.

Clem Pavilonis and Sammy Vukovich led a DePaul drive that cut Notre Dame's lead to two points at 52-50 with 90 seconds to go. Then Don Strasser sank a free throw for Notre Dame, and O'Shea sank two long push shots to put the game away.

Pavilonis was high for DePaul with 15 points, 10 of them in the second-half drive as he began hitting with his special hook shot.

Grand Rapids Cueman Wins Billiard Meet

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(P)—Harold Worst, Grand Rapids, Mich., tonight won the Chicago Grand sectional three-cushion billiard tournament by defeating Jacob Ankrum, Detroit, Mich., 50 to 16 in 37 innings. It was Worst's sixth triumph against no defeats.

Ankrum finished in runnerup spot with five victories and one loss.

Worst's win seeds him into the national tournament to be held in Chicago's Navy Pier beginning Feb. 10.

Chicago Cabaret Owner Booked On Narcotics Charge

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(P)—Orville T. Owen, 32, owner of a North Clark street cabaret, was seized last night by federal narcotics agents and charged with possessing marijuana.

Also taken into custody in the raid on Owen's home at 823 Sheridan Rd. were three women—Owen's wife, Patricia, 29; Mrs. Jackie Smead, 23, and Mrs. Virginia Babb, 20.

The women were turned over to police and all were booked as inmates of a disorderly house. In addition, Mrs. Owen was charged with being keeper of a disorderly house and Mrs. Smead with possessing marijuana.

John Mangin of the Chicago police narcotics detail said the raid was made after three federal agents had been sold marijuana by Owen.

U.S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker held Owen and Mrs. Smead to the federal grand jury. He fixed Owen's bond at $2,500 and that of Mrs. Smead at $500. The other women, who face only state charges, were held in the Women's lockup where Mrs. Smead was returned after her appearance before the commissioner.

I Love My Doctor

By Evelyn Barkins

Copyright by Evelyn Barkins. Reprinted by NEA SERVICE, INC.

I HAD expected to wake up after that very unusual six-month celebration feeling like Columbus on the day he docked. Instead of which I got out of bed like a dishcloth emerging from a washing machine.

"You look awful," my mother said when she stopped by. "Do you have a fever? Let me feel your head."

"Don't start borrowing trouble. I'm feeling fine," I said, trying to sound like a seasoned commando ignoring a flesh wound.

"Well, I don't know," she persisted. "I don't like how you look. Why don't you tell John? After all, he is a doctor." Which was exactly why not. Just as in ordinary matters the average physician's medical care for his family makes the delinquent cooiler with his shoeless children seem like a paternal philanthropist, so in case of actual illness his concern and fear are magnified beyond normal proportions.

I remember one time when we were married about three months, when I fell and twisted my ankle.

"Now look, John," I protested, when he insisted on an X-ray as if I had just been pried out of a head-on collision. "It's obviously only a simple strain. I've had them before. Why do you worry about every little thing from a cut finger to a shaving nick?"

"I suppose it's because I know all the bizarre and incurable things in medicine," he said, "and I see so much of sickness everywhere, that I dread its happening here. Do you see?"

After an X-ray was taken (he usually was as victorious in things of this kind as Hitler in his heyday) and he was reassured that there was no break in my bone, John simply forgot the whole matter.

"Aren't you going to tape it up?" I asked, after a long day's limp. "That's what you did to Mrs. Wilson's ankle, and that's what the camp doctor did to me the last time it happened."

JOHN was relaxing as usual, with a medical journal, and while I questioned this type of literature as means of recreation, I dared not say so aloud in view of the Perry Mason cases and gory stilettes that furnished mine.

"Let it alone," he cringed, without even looking up. "I'll heal up. Nothing serious. Just let it alone."

The next day my ankle still bothered me a little, and my wounded feelings a great deal, so I determined on a new course.

Just as the last evening patient was leaving, I sat down in the waiting room, and said when John opened the door: "I'm next."

He looked surprised, but gallantly seized the cue. "Come right in, madame," he said professionally, and then, dropping the act, stretched and said, "Gosh, I'm tired."

"Not too tired if I were Mrs. Gwendolyn Xanthippity!" I hurried this out as if it were a grand jury indictment.

He stopped stretching. "What's the matter?" he asked.

"My ankle hurts. I want it taped, or at least I want a short-wave treatment like you gave Mrs. Wilson. If I were a patient I'd get one!" I said neatly. "Well, I'll be one. I'll pay you—or you can send the bill to my husband!"

John started to laugh. "Look, darling," he said, coming over to me. "I'd never neglect you ever. I promise. But a short-wave treatment at best can only give temporary relief, say, for a few hours or so, but that's all. Any other benefit Mrs. Wilson got was pure psychological effect. And you can't get that since I've told you better. Now, do you understand?"

Gradually, I came to accept the doctor's philosophy of personal medicine, although I never liked it or wholly understood it. I too acquired a skeptical attitude toward all medications and treatments except those specifically known to be guaranteed, effective aids in curing illnesses.

THE greatest mystery of modern medicine, at least to me, is how people can swallow red or blue or green liquids that, underneath their fancy labels, actually contain nothing but vitamin B, or aspirin mixed with sugar water, and then report the most astounding reactions, from a totally unconnected attack of rheumatism, to poison ivy.

But such thinking, in our house, was lower than Benedict Arnold's. With true professional Spartanism, our medicine cabinet was (and still is!) bare of any voodoo bottles except for aspirin for headaches, hair tonic for John, cosmetics for me, and a little iodine, or metaphin, or any other antiseptic that was most recently received in the mail.

"No cough medicine? No pills?" my mother demanded as if we were nonbelievers in cannibals. "I've never seen civilized people live like this!"

Like many lay people I have met, my mother was under the erroneous impression that a doctor's home probably came equipped with sterilizers, the kitchen, diathermy machines in the bedroom and autoclaves in the bathroom; that he and his family were daily germproofed, vitamin laden, hormone injected, and vaccinated; that only food approved by the Council on Food and Drugs of the American Medical Association was consumed; and that prophylactic fumigations of the whole house took place periodically.

Her immediate reaction to the routine John and I followed was like that of a child who suddenly discovers that there is no Santa Claus. For her sake only, I sometimes wished that we might have been one of that literal-minded minority among physicians who do come close to her ideal. These men (a minority, I repeat) read every controversial medical article published without even sensing the controversy.

21 G. M. & O. Freight Cars Derailed Near Yeomans, Crew Unhurt

From two to three days of heavy work lie ahead for members of a Gulf, Mobile & Ohio repair crew which arrived early Wednesday afternoon at the scene of a 21-car pileup near Yeomans station. The freight cars comprised approximately one-half of westbound Freight Train No. 93, which was derailed at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday when the locomotive struck a defective rail.

The engine passed over the resulting break and did not leave the track. All crew members escaped injury.

SEEKS SENATE POST

Yeomans station is on the Bloomington-Roodhouse division of the G. M. & O. "highline" at a point more than a mile north of Franklin. The accident occurred three-fourths of a mile east of the station.

At four o'clock Wednesday afternoon the crew had just begun what promises to be one of the longest and hardest "cleanup" jobs undertaken in this vicinity in a number of years. Cars were piled one upon another, in one place three cars high, and many were at 45-degree angles with what earlier in the morning had been the track.

Parts of a few of the cars had been reduced to kindling wood. The majority of the wheel-trucks had been sheared from the bottom of their cars. Rails protruded from under the cars like toothpicks, at various angles.

Lodged In Narrow Cut
Twenty of the 40-foot-long cars were piled in a narrow cut extending along the track for only 400 feet. The other had been carried several hundred feet down the right-of-way. Had the track been laid on open land, the pileup probably would not have been as great, but the cars would have come to a halt a greater distance off the right of way.

Only five of the cars were loaded with merchandise. The others were empty. One flatcar was carrying six pickup hay bales, all new. A gondola car, the first being cleared by the wrecker crew, carried pipe. One car was loaded with coal. Still another was a tank car. Most of the others were box cars, including several refrigerator cars, the cargo of one of which was removed before repair operations began.

Two Crews Expected
The "wrecker" was brought to this city from Bloomington and began work at the east side of the wreck. It will be moved during the night to the west end by way of Roodhouse and a second crew will begin work Thursday on the east side. The second crew will come from Springfield and their arrival may shorten the time required to clear the track for service.

Meanwhile, trains will be rerouted through Jacksonville.

Examination Wednesday by railroad officials revealed that the defective rail had crystallized and the weight of the locomotive passing over it had probably caused it to snap. An eastbound freight had crossed over the point earlier in the morning with no mishap.

The wrecked train was in charge of Conductor Rowe.

After the engine passed the broken rail the cars began jumping the track, which was damaged for a considerable distance. The wild-running cars knocked down several telegraph poles, putting the railroad communication system out of business. It was repaired by noon.

One of the first to learn of the accident was H. N. Sparrow, telegraph operator at Yeomans station, who used a telephone in reporting to railroad officials.

Ralph Johnson and Bernard Kindred of Alexander were among first arrivals at the derailment. After reaching Alexander they notified the Journal Courier that an accident had happened at Yeomans station.

M., Jacksonville Chapter No. 3, Royal Arch Masons, Hospitaller Commandery No. 31, Knights Templar, of which body he was recorder; Zingbad Grotto, Bloomington Consistory, in which he held life membership; Anshur Shrine; Grace Methodist church; Order of Eastern Star, Malta Shrine and the T.P.A.

The body is at the Gillham Funeral home. Services will be held there at 2:30 p.m. Friday in charge of Rev. Frank Marston. Masonic services will be conducted by Harmony Lodge No. 3, A. F. & A. M. Burial will be made in Memorial Lawn cemetery.
